To Whom It May Concern,

Hello. Homeland Builders installed a solar water system on our house in the winter of 2007. We were amazed at the dedication of the installers, who worked through adverse conditions such as snow on the roof to get our system up and running. We received all of the information we wanted about the system and install process in a timely manner, and were impressed with the thorough knowledge of solar systems that Homeland Builders had. Our system has worked flawlessly since the install was completed, and I'd highly recommend Homeland Builders to anyone who is considering getting a solar system installed.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any further questions.

Sincerely yours,
